Applied Energy Saving Solutions (AESS) is an Engineering Company specialized in energy saving, energy audits and energy efficiency assessment. We provide our clients with comprehensive service, which allows them to save money by saving energy and protect the environment by reducing CO2 emissions.

In AESS we believe in offering our clients a comprehensive service because we don't want to provide our clients with recommendations and energy saving measures and leave them struggle to source the products required to achieve their savings.

Therefore, we can supply the following products to our clients to help them save energy.

Solar PV System

The solar PV systems became more affordable and more efficient, which makes it easier to the landlord or the building owner to take the decision to install such system in their property. Moreover, electricity prices increases every year, which makes the installation of a solar PV system in any building a necessity.

We have partnered with one of the largest solar PV systems installers in Australia. Our partner can design, supply, install and commission a complete functioning solar PV system for your property.
